

Hard work deserves credit. And credit transfer.

Did you know many universities put a limit on how many credits they accept?

At Bellevue University, we believe all the credits in your associate's degree are worthy of transfer, and we accept all of them. That's right, every last one. You can transfer your entire associate's degree, which will help you complete your bachelor's degree quickly and affordably.

And as always, you pay no application or transfer fees.
